10:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. Panel 1

The Fight for Democratic Renewal: parliamentarians as democracy defenders

- Equipping legislators to detect and deflect early warning signs of erosion of democratic principles, including curtailment of civil and political rights, erosion of separation of powers, and diminishment of media freedoms.
- Empowering parliamentarians to act when the human rights of activists, advocates, and allies are threatened, including strategies to combat politically motivated arrests and detentions.

- Emboldening MPs to demand political dialogue that is respectful of all, resist hate speech and derogatory language, expose disinformation, and prevent and punish defamation, including online and through social media, while respecting freedoms of speech.
- Empowering parliamentarians to combat extrajudicial or summary executions and to abolish the death penalty to prevent the ultimate attacks against activists, defenders and political actors expressing dissent.
