

LGBTI Inclusion Social Media Messages

Suggested messages to post on Twitter and/or Facebook:

“Being LGBTI is a trend.” This and other myths undermine the rights of #LGBTI people. Learn to respond to myths and discriminatory statements from a human rights standpoint: <http://www.pgaction.org/inclusion/practical-tools/myths-and-reality.html>

Unclear about the acronym “#LGBTI” and other concepts connected to it? Check out these definitions: <http://www.pgaction.org/inclusion/background/acronyms.html>

#LGBTI people are not requesting “special rights” – they are entitled to the same human rights as everyone else: <http://www.pgaction.org/inclusion/background/framework.html>

Advancing the rights of all individuals, including #LGBTI people, is the responsibility of all parliamentarians. Here are some ways that parliamentarians can take action: <http://www.pgaction.org/inclusion/take-action/>

Preparing for an interview or meeting? Here are some useful tips to speak appropriately about the rights of #LGBTI people and the issues affecting them: <http://www.pgaction.org/inclusion/practical-tools/how-to-speak-about-lgbti-issues.html>

“There are 17 sustainable development goals all based on a single, guiding principle: to leave no one behind. We will only realize this vision if we reach all people regardless of their sexual orientation or gender identity.” <http://www.pgaction.org/inclusion/background/united-nations.html>